Udall 'Way Out In Left Field' Declares Sen. Bayh

WASHINGTON UPI — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said Monday he believes Interior Secretary Udall is "way out in left field" in his views on the use of land in the Indiana dunes at the southern tip of Lake Michigan.

Bayh said at a news conference the development of both a deepwater port at Burns Harbor and the establishment of an Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore are "not irreconcilable." He said the Senate has passed bills for both projects and all that remains is for the House to act on the park portion of the package.

"I think it is unfortunate that he (Udall) let himself be hoodwinked," said Bayh with reference to Udall's statements that a landfill project by Bethlehem Steel Co. would create a cesspool.

"These charges are phony and they have been made by selfish and uninformed men," Bayh said in a news conference at Indianapolis. He said "obstructionists" were responsible for raising false issues in an effort to delay the port.

The obstructionists, he said, are "men from out of the state with selfish interests who had reached and persuaded Udall to help them."

He said the obstructionists were behind the move to have the Army Corps of Engineers suspend Bethlehem's permit to go ahead with the landfill project.

Bayh said here he plans to testify at Valparaiso, Sept. 26, at a hearing on the landfill issue. He said at Indianapolis he would take the matter to the White House this morning.

Bayh emphasized there is no giveaway involved in the Bethlehem project. He said the firm paid for rights to shoreline when it acquired the property.

State's Traffic Dead Now 1,105

By United Press International

Two deaths on rain-slick highways Monday night boosted the 1966 Indiana traffic fatality toll to at least 1,105 compared with 1,013 a year ago today.

David M. Snyder, 29, R. R. 1, Fountaintown, was killed in a two-car collision on a rural Shelby County road Monday night. Police said the other car, driven by Clarence F. Perry, 19, R. R. 1, Fairland, skidded on the wet blacktop road and got broadside in the path of Snyder's car. Perry was injured slightly in the accident.

Scott Snyder, 17, R. R. 3, Sullivan, was killed Monday night when the car in which he was riding went out of control and crashed on U. S. 41 north of Sullivan. The driver, Dana Pearson, 17, Sullivan, was treated and released at a Sullivan hospital for injuries. Police said Pearson was passing a string of cars when his car spun and crashed into a telephone pole.

Robert E. Hendershot, 51, New Albany, died at Floyd County Hospital in New Albany of injuries suffered in a one-car crash on Indiana 111 Sept. 6. Police said Hendershot's car went out of control, went off the road and hit a bridge abutment, and then skidded 265 feet into a ditch.

Ban Miniskirts

TEHRAN, Iran UPI — The Education ministry Monday labeled miniskirts "improper, indecent" and said any girl who insists on wearing one will be permanently denied admission to educational institutions.

Three Arrested, Two Are Jailed

Carl Hedge, 21, Roachdale, was lodged in the Putnam County jail Monday noon by Sheriff Kenneth Knauer on a Circuit Court warrant charging theft.

Wallie Myers, 46, Fligo, Pennsylvania, was jailed Monday afternoon by State Detective Kenneth Wolfe and booked for driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Dallas E. Harvey, 20, Martinsville Street, was arrested by City Officer John Pursell, at 3:25 Monday afternoon on North Indiana Street, and charged with having improper brakes.

Two Accidents Occur In City

City police reported this morning that two traffic accidents occurred in Greencastle on Monday.

At 4:10 p.m., a 1965 Ford driven by Horace E. Beshires, 43, Benton Harbor, Mich., and a 1953 Plymouth driven by Allen E. Shaw, 16, North Madison Street, were involved in a mishap at Washington and Locust Streets.

Officer Russell Rogers estimated the damage at $200 to the Michigan auto and $125 to the local car.

Shaw was arrested for failure to yield right-of-way.

At 8:15 a.m., police said a 1961 Chevrolet station wagon driven by Mildred L. Sims, 27, city, hit the rear of a 1960 Ford driven by Franklin R. Brown, 65, city.

This accident occurred 100 feet north of Franklin Street on North Jackson Street. The report stated that Brown suffered a neck injury and Ronnie Sims, age 7, was hurt about the chest and head.

Officer John Vermillion described the station wagon as a total loss and damage to the Brown Ford was estimated at $200.

Heavy Rainfall On Eastern Coast

By United Press International

Heavy rains slapped at the Eastern Seaboard today, the last full day of summer. A complicated low pressure system extending from southern Illinois to the Carolinas and up into New England touched off showers across several states.

Virginia was hardest hit, with rainfall totaling up to an inch and one half during a six-hour period. More than two thirds of an inch drenched the coastal plains of North Carolina during the same period.

Scattered showers fell across Tennessee to the upper Ohio Valley and into New England. Missouri, which experienced flash flooding Monday, had only minor showers today.

A few showers lingered in South Carolina, and down to Florida. The southern Rockies and southern California were plattered by the tail end of a slowly moving storm center that dropped heavy rains in the Los Angeles area Sunday and Monday.

A few sprinkles remained in Indiana where a welcomed steady rain on Monday reduced a critical moisture shortage.

The rest of the nation had sunny skies but a cold front chilled parts of the lower New England coast and over to northern Minnesota. Another cold front moved across north-east Montana to southern California.

Viet Nam War Responsibility Placed On LBJ

WASHINGTON UPI — A major House Republican policy statement said Monday that President Johnson alone must bear responsibility for committing U.S. troops to battle in Viet Nam.

The Republicans said Johnson's decision to send Americans into combat was not forced upon him by treaty or any other obligation of a previous administration. Democrats have contended the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam goes back to the GOP Eisenhower administration.

The GOP pronouncements were made in an updated and revised version of the 1965 House Republican "white paper" on Viet Nam, a document on U.S. involvement in the Southeast Asian war.

It was prepared by the GOP's planning and research committee, an arm of the Republican conference representing all Republican members of the House. The paper was released by committee Chairman Charles E. Goodell, House GOP leader Gerald Ford and conference Chairman Melvin Laird.

"During the administration of President Johnson, the United States has become a full-

Bulletin

PARAGON UPI — Burglars broke into the Paragon branch of the Indiana Bank & Trust Co. of Martinsville during the night and escaped with an undetermined amount of money.

State Police Detective R. Wayne Hall estimated the break-in took place shortly after midnight.

The thieves pried open the bank's front door, then smashed through a double brick wall into the vault.

The bank was held up several times in recent years but officials said this was the first time it was burglarized.

Issue Appeal

JERUSALEM, Israel UPI — The government Monday appealed to religious zealots to stop stoning traffic passing through the Mandelbaum gate on Saturdays — the Jewish Sabbath. Tourism minister Moshe Kol said the Zealots believe all traffic should stop on their Sabbath and observe the religious day of rest.

Peace Force To Disband Today

SANTO DOMINGO UPI — The controversial six-nation Inter-American Peace Force (IAPF) finally disbands today. Its few members still remaining here depart for home, leaving the Dominican Republic to face an uncertain future on its own.

There now remain only 200 men of a force that once numbered 30,000. Most of these were leaving today. A handful — less than two squads of the U.S. Army's 82nd Airborne Division — will stay until Wednesday to supervise the removal of equipment.

The peace force was formed at the height of the Dominican civil war nearly 17 months ago.

Affirm Approval Of Rail Merger

WASHINGTON UPI — The Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) Monday affirmed its approval of the New York Central-Pennsylvania Railroad merger effective Sept. 30 but reopened the proceedings for further hearing on "protective measures" for three competing railroads.

In answer to more than 20 petitions filed as a result of the merger decision last April 27, the commission said it would hold hearings on protective measures for the Erie-Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, and Boston and Maine railroads. The three railroads might be adversely affected by the Penn-Central merger, the ICC said.

It found no cause for further "reconsideration, rehearing, further hearing or further argument" on the entire case.

The ICC said both the Pennsylvania and New York Central were willing to accept post-merger modification of the conditions if the merger was allowed. It said they also had agreed to accept retroactive changes to the provisions.

Youth Hurt In Frat Initiation

NOBLESVILLE, UPI — Gary Vaught, 15, was injured Sunday when he fell into a ditch while groping blindfolded over rough terrain along Morse Reservoir during a fraternity initiation.

The youth, a member of the reserve football team at Noblesville High School, was taken to Riverview Hospital with a possible concussion.

Authorities said Vaught told them he and another youth were walking blindfolded at the order of a group of 10 fellow students conducting initiation into a club which school officials said was not sanctioned.

Meeting Is Held By School Board

The Greencastle Community School Board at a special meeting Monday, at the Junior High Building, voted to accept the bids received on the additional appropriations in the amount of $157,000 from the First-Citizens Bank and Trust Company and the Central National Bank. Before any action can be taken on the bids, the State Tax Commission has to approve the evidence of indebtedness.

Dr. Joseph Rammel, Superintendent of Schools reported all schools have public address systems installed except Miller School and the Sycamore Electrical Company would install a system for $1,990.00 in all rooms except the cafeteria at Miller School. The motion to accept this offer was passed unanimously.

SAIGON UPI — U.S. Marines fighting a North Vietnamese division for control of a vital border province charged through machine gun fire and seized a key village after a dawn-to-dusk battle, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Other Americans, troops of the 1st Air Cavalry Division, were confronting a second Communist division in the Central Highlands to the south. They captured a communications center and killed 15 members of the mixed North Vietnamese-Viet Cong 610 "Yellow Star" Division.

The Marine assault was against An Dinh village, 425 miles north of Saigon, which had been held by the tough North Vietnamese 324B Division in northernmost Quang Tri Province. The Leathernecks, who spokesmen said called in "all their supporting weapons" including air strikes and artillery, took over the village late Monday and killed at least 53 Communist troops in their tunnels and trenches.

In the same region other Marines killed 15 North Vietnamese, raising to 532 the number of Communist troops killed since the beginning of Operation Prairie on Aug. 3.

CHICAGO UPI — James J. Albrecht was to address the American Meat Institute today on "The Critical Role of Flavor in Marketing Sausage, or Sausage Flavor—Gone but not Forgotten."

Train Robbery 'Brain' Arrested

AYLESBURY, England UPI — Ronald Buster Edwards, described as one of the sharpest brains in the London underworld, was arrested in London in connection with the great train robbery of 1963.

He was brought here later and formally charged at a police station in Aylesbury, close to the scene of the robbery which netted the gang $7.3 million—the biggest cash haul in history.

Police withheld details of the arrest, but indication were the 34-year-old Edwards, in effect, gave himself up.

He had been on the run since Aug. 8, 1963, when a commando-like gang stopped a royal mail train on a Glasgow-to-London run and stole worn banknotes worth 2.6 million pounds sterling.

Edwards was to appear before a magistrate today at nearby Linslade Court where 12 of the other train robbers arrested earlier were tried and sentenced, seven of them to 30-year jail terms.

PARIS UPI — Communist China is trying to prevent the North Vietnamese government from arranging peace talks with the United States, it was learned today.

Information reaching Paris said the leaders in Hanoi and Peking are sharply split over the question of opening Viet Nam peace talks.

Sources close to French President Charles de Gaulle said the Hanoi government informed the United States as long as 15 months ago it would not insist that U.S. withdrawal take place before any peace talks, but that Washington must set a date for a military pullout in advance.

The sources said the North Vietnamese would be willing to go to the conference table if the United States named a specific date and firm pledge of its intentions.

But the Peking government, informants said, has vetoed peace talks under any circumstances. The Communists were said to feel that continuation of the conflict in southeast Asia would cause the United States to "lose face" in the Far East—to the advantage of Peking.

Officials Decry Traffic Deaths

GILBERTSVILLE, Ky. UPI — Southern Governor today called for a massive national attack on highway accidents, which will claim a predicted 50,000 lives this year.

Lowell K. Bridwell, deputy under-secretary of commerce for transportation, told the annual Southern Governors Conference the federal government stands ready to help cut the highway carnage with money and research.

"Traffic safety will require the best efforts of us all," Bridwell said in prepared remarks.

Highways and traffic safety dominated a morning session of the 32nd governors' meeting. A state dinner will be held tonight, and the closing conference session with election of new officers and adoption of resolutions is scheduled Wednesday.

Wants A Male

FAIR LAWN, N. J. UPI — Seven times in the past 20 years Henry Lauzon has given his pregnant wife a baseball bat as a symbol that he wanted a son. And seven times the Lauzons got daughters.

With the announcement that she is expecting an eighth child, Lauzon rushed out and bought another ball bat. "It's not that he doesn't love the girls," explained Mrs. Lauzon. "It's just that he gets awfully tired of playing baseball with them."

WINS CAR AND LOAD OF GROCERIES

If you were wondering where the action was Saturday night then the above picture might help you. After about four weeks of extensive advertising in The Daily Banner Greencastle IGA Foodliner held a drawing in which they gave away a car full of groceries and a number of other small prizes. The contest caused such a stir that some nine or ten streets surrounding the store almost became blocked because of the parked cars and people gathering for the drawing. The winner of the car was Mrs. Austin Jeffries, Greencastle, (pictured second to the right), but her son, Ray (third from the right) claimed the car for her until she could arrive. Making the presentation are (right) Dick Edwards and (left) William Schaab, owners of the local store.

Club Meets With Mrs. Alfred Hanks

The West Marion Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Alfred Hanks.

The meeting was called to order at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Hanks, the president. She introduced Dorothy Buehler and Irene Wise of Home Service Department of Public Service, who gave a very interesting lesson on Kitchen Planning. They emphasized—make the kitchen to suit the family. Plan to save steps, counter-space by refrigerator, work-space well located, convenient lighting, and good wiring with plenty of outlets.

Then the president continued with the meeting. The history of the song of the month, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia" was read by Mrs. Lois Zeiner. The flag salute and club creed were repeated.

The roll call was answered by eight members with "A Vacation I Would Like to Take." The minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

The garden lesson given by Mrs. Cleo Arnold.

The officers for 1967 were elected.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Dennis Pickett and Mrs. Sarah Sparks.

The meeting closed by repeating the club prayer.

The hostess served delicious refreshments. She was assisted by her daughter, Debby and sister, Mrs. Pickett.

Mrs. Harold Sibbitt Is Hostess To Club

The West Floyd Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 14 at the home of Mrs. Harold Sibbitt.

Mrs. Arthur Eggers, president, opened the meeting by reading the thought of the month.

Mrs. Stanley F. Sears, song leader, read the history of the song "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," and led in the singing which was followed by the pledge to the flag and the club creed.

Twelve members answered roll call with "a vacation I would like to take."

The lesson on New Fabrics was well given by Mrs. Ezra Arnold and Mrs. Arthur Eggers.

Mrs. Clarence Ragan gave a summary of the last "past presidents" meeting.

New officers elected for the coming year are: Mrs. Arthur Eggers, president; Mrs. Dale Miller, vice president; Mrs. Maurice Bryan, secretary; and Mrs. Stanley F. Sears, secretary.

Vows Exchanged

Mrs. Beverly Kay McBride and Gerrell Edward Barker exchanged nuptial vows in an afternoon ceremony at the Roachdale Presbyterian Church. The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Frank T. Hainer of Chicago.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. McBride of Roachdale. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Barker of North Salem are the parents of the groom.

Mrs. Dorothy Crosby played traditional organ wedding music and accompanied Nancy Feltner who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Eugene Cooper was best man and Bob Preston was groomsmen. Guests were seated by two brothers of the bride, David and Jay McBride, and Don Barker, brother of the groom.

Miss Becky McFarland served the bride as maid of honor, and Miss Shirley Templeman was bridesmaid. Both attendants are former classmates of the bride. The bride's sister, Roxanne McBride, served as flower girl.

The attendants wore street-length dresses of mint green brocade and carried cascades of white spider mums and pom-poms. The flower girl wore a dress of the same material, and carried a white wicker basket filled with rose petals.

The bridal gown was styled of white satin with Alencon lace trim. The chapel-length train fell from the bride's shoulders and her view was secured by a Juliet crown. She carried a cascade box of white butterfly roses and ivy centered with a white orchid.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McBride chose a beige and gold three-piece suit. The mother of the groom wore a two-piece suit of pink linen. Both mothers wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church. The four-tiered wedding cake and green punch were served by Mrs. Don VanVactor and Mrs. Fred Huber. Kim McBride, sister of the bride, registered out-of-town guests from Campbellsburg, Plainfield, Crawfordsville, North Salem, Ladoga, New Palestine, New Ross, Danville, Greencastle, Jamestown and Lawrence.

For the honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls the bride changed to a green linen dress with white accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. Barker is a graduate of Roachdale High School and is currently employed at R. R. Donnelley and Sons. The groom is a graduate of North Salem High School and is employed at the Allison Division of General Motors.

After the wedding trip, the couple will make their home at North Salem.

Square Dance News

Sunday night, Sept. 17, the National Guard Armory was the scene of a "happy bunch of people." The group that attended Castle Squares "Free Dance Party" found out just how much fun square dancing can be.

There were 6 squares of new dancers and several more experienced dancers to help make up an evening of fun for all.

Refreshments of cider and donuts were served by "Castle Squares."

Lessons will start next Sunday, Sept. 25, 1966, at the Armory at 7:00 p.m. till 10:00 p.m. All persons interested in taking square dance lessons should come. Bob & Nita Henderson are the instructors. Bob is a local caller.

Castle Squares are having a dance Sat., Sept. 24th, at the Armory. Everyone welcome. Free admission to spectators at all dances and they are always welcome.

If you think you might be interested in lessons but aren't sure... why not come out Sat. night and see how much fun we have at our dances.

Hope to see many of you Saturday night. Don't forget to circle your calendar now!

Sheppard Trial Judge Is Named

CLEVELAND UPI—Common Pleas Court Judge Francis J. Talty was named to preside at the new murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

Barring a change of venue, Sheppard is scheduled to stand trial here Oct. 18 in the 1954 slaying of his first wife.

Talty, 46, who has been a judge less than two years, said his assignment to preside at the Sheppard trial was an "awesome responsibility."

As trial judge, he will rule on Sheppard's motion that the trial be moved outside Cleveland. Should Talty agree to a change of venue the president judge of the county selected for the trial will appoint a jurist to hear the case.

Sheppard was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1954 on a second degree murder charge — the same charge on which he will be retried — and served more than nine years in prison. He was released in 1964 while the U.S. Supreme Court reviewed his appeal.

Last June, the Supreme Court overturned Sheppard's conviction on grounds of prejudicial news coverage and bedlam in the courtroom.

Senate Defeats Open Housing

WASHINGTON UPI — After nine years of legislating major civil rights advances for the American Negro, the Senate Monday killed President Johnson's controversial "open housing" rights package.

The final fatal blow came when the Senate refused for the second time to end a two-week-old filibuster inspired by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen against the bill.

The vote for cloture, or halting the debate, was 52 to 41, which fell 10 votes short of the required two-third majority. A similar attempt last Wednesday was defeated, 54 to 42—also short of the mark by 10 votes.

Lunar Landing Robot Is Poised

CAPE KENNEDY UPI — America's second Surveyor lunar landing robot waited atop an Atlas-Centaur rocket for launch today on a 63-hour picture-taking expedition toward the moon.

The 2,207-pound spacecraft, nearly identical to its highly successful predecessor.

It was scheduled during a 36-minute period starting at 7:56 a.m. EDT.

If all goes well, it will complete its 240,727-mile mission Thursday morning by soft landing on the moon's Sinus Medii—the Middle Bay—about 800 miles east of Surveyor 1 in the Sea of the Storms.

Surveyor 2's main job is to flash thousands of detailed closeup pictures of the lunar landscape back to earth to help Apollo planners select sites for the first manned lunar landing attempt in two or three years.

Lack Suspects In Percy Slaying

CHICAGO UPI — Investigators today looked for the mysterious intruder who beat and stabbed Valerie Percy to death in her bed, but they said they have no real suspect.

Police Chief Robert M. Daley of Kenilworth said Monday night the fragmentary description was supplied by Valerie's stepmother, who surprised the intruder.

Private funeral services for the 21-year-old daughter of Republican senatorial candidate Charles H. Percy were to be held this afternoon.

Daley's 10-man police force, aided by Chicago's homicide cops, FBI crime technicians, Cook County police and members of neighboring suburban police, continued to question the hundreds of friends and associates of the vivacious murder victim.

Daley said Monday night that Mrs. Percy had given some information about the early Sunday morning hours when she investigated the sound of a moan and found a person in her stepdaughter's bedroom.

The person, described as five feet eight and weighing 160 pounds, shined a flashlight in her eyes but she remembered the silhouette, Daley said. She supplied a fragmentary description based on the fleeting glimpse she had before running to her bedroom to arouse her husband and set off a manual burglar alarm.

Bleeds To Death In Jail Cell

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Hugh Goff, 43, Indianapolis, was found dead from the effects of a razor blade slash on his arm in Marion County Jail Monday.

A coroner's report indicated Goff slashed himself deliberately and bled to death in a cell-block containing 20 to 30 other prisoners about one-half hour before his body was discovered.

Authorities said Goff cut a mattress and hid his bleeding arm inside it. They said he had told other prisoners recently he planned to "take a trip." He was jailed Aug. 29 on charges of sodomy and assault and battery.

When preparing potatoes for baking or boiling with the skins on use a nylon net ball as a scrubber. It also is excellent for cleaning the hand: after preparing bread or pie crust.

One Woman's Too Busy To Work For A Salary

By ROBERTA ROESCH

"I am one of the few women in my neighborhood who don't leave home for a job every day," writes a reader from Pennsylvania.

"Actually, I have no desire, no training, and no need to work at a job," she says. "In addition, I keep busy with so many other interests I would have to cut out some worthwhile activities, if I changed my schedule and went to work.

Beginning To Bother Her

"But despite my interest in what I am doing, it is beginning to bother me that today most people seem to feel that unless you answer the question of 'What work do you do?' with the name of a specific job, you're actually doing nothing.

"I have been stopped by that question so often," she said, "it is making me feel inadequate, even though I don't have time for a salaried job."

In my years of talking to women, I have met a good many others who have also been stopped by this question.

One woman I remember particularly never had an answer to the question "What work do you do?" since she, too, felt that people expected her to name a job. Therefore, she never told them about the work that filled her life to the brim.

Each summer, for example, this woman, who had no children of her own, opened her home to boys and girls from city slums. Then during the winter she gave three days a week to helping at a county orphanage.

Read And Mend

"Some days I mend for the children," she said, "Other days I read to them."

When this woman, who won't let me use her name, wasn't working with children, she was giving her time to worthwhile organizations, remaining so well organized herself that she never abandoned one commitment to keep up with something else.

In the hours she was at home, she was usually at her desk, often until well into the night, writing letters to servicemen.

She seldom mentioned all that she did, and she kept away from the limelight so much that people who asked "What work do you do?" never had any idea that this quiet but competent woman often put in twice as much time carrying out worthwhile activities as her neighbors with a job.

"It is the life I have chosen," she told me, when we discussed this subject, "and I love the interests that I pursue."

"But sometimes I wish I had the right words to answer people who ask me about my work and who make me feel inadequate because I cannot tell them exactly what I do."

She Opened Her Home To Boys And Girls From City's Slums

Adequate Answer

In our opinion, this woman—and every woman like her—has more than an adequate answer to the question even if she can't put it in precise words.

The world is so full of so many types of jobs. And there are as many different kinds of work as there are kinds of women to do it.

The woman who chooses one kind of work should never feel she doesn't count because she did not choose another.

Demonstrator Killed

NEW DELHI, India UPI—One demonstrator was killed and 40 others were injured Monday when police opened fire on a right wing mob protesting the arrest of a member of the Punjab state assembly. Police said the fatality was the victim of stones thrown by the crowd during the height of the demonstration by some 1,500 persons in Rohtak, about 60 miles from Delhi.

A Woman's View

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK UPI — What women dream of for their homes and what they actually add to them are as far apart as attic and basement.

Happiness for the homemaker would be relaxing in a vibrating chair in the afternoon, having sound-proofed rooms for the children, and sleeping in a king-size bed each night.

But practicality more often is boss, with appearance winning out over relaxation, noise control and sleeping comfort when it comes to actual furnishings purchases.

A new study of home care and decorating trends brought forth these findings, among others. It's an annual poll, conducted by makers of home maintenance tools, who this year talked to 200 women from a cross-section of income groups in suburbs of New York, Chicago, Houston and Sacramento.

Researchers found that home furnishings budgets are used to refurbish, replace and remodel rather than for purchase of the luxuries. Art, on the increase, was not considered a luxury.

Forty-four per cent of the women questioned have purchased or plan to buy new items for the home this year, and 34 per cent were already planning next year's purchases, said researchers for eureka.

Some 26 per cent planned to buy either rugs or carpeting this year; eight per cent knew they would be buying them next year.

Major changes were not uncommon. Although sound-proofing rooms is in the "happiness is" category, nearly one fourth will remodel rooms, repaint, re-paper or "add on" additional room.

But most expenditures will go to replace items considered worn out. The researchers said 68 per cent of the purchases are for replacement, and most of the women will be sprucing up living and dining room areas.

The national cultural boom is reflected in home decor. Nearly all of the women expressed keen interest in art for decorating, and 27 per cent have bought new paintings, pieces of sculpture, or antiques this year. Half those questioned would like to add additional pieces as they discovered them, and 10 per cent consider themselves collectors.

The women trust their own taste in decorating. Nearly 75 per cent said they have no decorating problems, and that it's usually lack of money—rather than lack of ideas—that prevents new purchases.

Abel Against Conservatives

ATLANTIC CITY UPI — The United States Steelworkers Union (USE) President I. M. Abel, has called for the defeat of ultra-conservative congressional candidates in the November general election.

"There are great threats from the far right" Abel told the first session of the Union's 13th biennial convention at Convention Hall.

"The disciples of the John Birch Society and American fascism are moving ahead on a program . . . to seize control of our nation."

"This reactionary element may hold the balance of power. We must determine to stop this encroachment on democracy."

Abel, who also took a swipe at the administration's wage-price guidelines, urged the union members to work hard to elect liberal candidates.

"I ask you, can we afford to turn our backs on congressmen

The Daily Banner, Greencastle, Indiana
Tuesday, September 20, 1966

who approved Medicare, the Appalachian program, and other social programs?" he said. "Can we halt the march to the Great Society?"

Abel told the delegates the wage-price guidelines were unworkable, inequitable, and arbitrary. He said they must be eliminated in favor of an expansionary wage program.

Arm Mangled In Corn Chopper

holder, 60, was listed in good condition at LaGrange County Hospital here Sunday after two physicians performed an emergency amputation of his arm Saturday night.

The Amish farmer's arm was mangled in a corn chopper on his farm near LaGrange Saturday night. Drs. Lloyd Studebaker and Harley Flannigan were called to the scene after police and firemen were unable to free Burkholder's arm from the corn chopper.

Al Smith Wins Sprint Car Race

WINCHESTER UPI — Al Smith, Dayton, Ohio, won his first major car race Sunday by outlasting Roger McCluskey in the 100-lap USAC sprint car feature at the Winchester Speedway.

Smith finished more than a lap in front of Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N. M., to take the winner's share of the $7,000 purse money.

McCluskey, from Tucson, Ariz., fought with Smith for the lead after winning the pole position for the second straight year, but faded to a fourth place finish. Last year, McCluskey led until the halfway point and then finished second behind Johnny Rutherford.

Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., the current USAC championship point leader, finished third. Rounding out the top finishers were Arnie Knepper, Belleville, Ill., fifth; Dick Atkins, Hayward, Calif., sixth, and Bob Pratt.

Purdue-Notre Dame Meet Saturday in Week's Thriller

By United Press International

The eyes of the college football world will be focused on South Bend Saturday in expectation of another thriller—it's Purdue against Notre Dame—and another cliff-hanging thriller could be in the making.

These two power houses played the game of the year at Lafayette in 1965, Purdue winning in the final minutes, 25-21, on the brilliant passing of Bob Griese, who fired three touchdown passes.

Griese, who later garnered All-America honors at quarterback, connected on a fantastic 19 of 22 aerials—13 in a row—in leading the Purdues to victory.

Playing his last season as a collegian, he has another crack at the Irish, who play their opener with Terry Hanratty the likely signal-caller.

Hapless Indiana, meanwhile, fresh from its 20-10 upset by Miami of Ohio, has the dubious honor of playing the first Big Ten game of the season at Northwestern.

Indiana Collegiate and Hoosier College Conference warfare also unfolds Saturday. Ball State, the only Indiana college eleven unbeaten and untied in regular season play last year, opens defense of its ICC crown at home against Valparaiso. Other ICC games are Indiana State at Butler and St. Joseph's at DePauw.

Anderson opens defense of its HCC title in its season opener at Hanover, Franklin is at Earlham, and Manchester at Taylor.

Saturday's schedule is rounded out with Rose Poly at Indiana Central, Evansville at Southeast Missouri and Wabash at Washington of St. Louis.

Yancey Captures Golf Tourney

PORTLAND, Ore. UPI—Bert Yancey, a former West Pointer, took home his $6,800 reward today after coming through in the clutch to capture the $50,000 Portland Open golf tournament Sunday.

Yancey, who broke a tie with Pete Brown with an eagle three on the first hole for the final round, pushed his year's earnings to $38,000, and put him into the select company of Bill Casper and Gary Brewer, the only players to have won more than two tournaments this year.

Yancey, 28, also won the Azalea and Memphis tourneys.

Casper settled for second place. The U.S. Open champion and leading money winner closed with a 69 but Yancey beat him with a 67 for a 17-under-par tournament total of 271, three strokes in front.

The blond native of Philadelphia beat Casper at his own game—putting. He needed only 25 Sunday and his 102 putts for the four rounds was the best of the year. Casper averaged around 30 putts per round.

Casper, who won the first three Portland Opens in 1959-60-61, and Jack Nicklaus, who won in 1962-64-65, were the heavy pre-tournament favorites. Casper won $3,900 for second, bringing his 1966 earnings to $111,615, and Nicklaus tied for sixth to win $1,616 for a season total of $89,569.

Brown, 31, who became the first Negro to win a PGA tournament when he took the Waco Turner Open at Burneyville, Okla., in 1964, finished third, two strokes behind Casper. He wound up with an even par 72 for a 276 total. But it gave him $3,100, his biggest purse of the year.

Australian Bruce Crampton, who shot a hole-in-one Saturday, tied with young Wright Garrett for fourth and $2,450 each. Crampton shot a final round of 69 and Garrett a 71 for 277 totals.

Tied with Nicklaus in sixth place were Laurie Hammer, George Knudson, who won here in 1963; Brewer, Paul Bondeson and Bob Goalby.

If you like responsibility—consider becoming an IBM Customer Engineer

Would you like a chance to show your skill? Here's a job that not only requires your best efforts—but will also give you the opportunity to expand your skills and acquire new ones through training. The title? IBM Customer Engineer.

If you qualify, you would enter a training program at full salary. Next, you would work in one of the fastest-growing areas of electronics today: information handling and control.

What are the qualifications for being an IBM Customer Engineer? A mechanical aptitude, plus a good knowledge of basic electronics. A minimum of two years of technical school or the equivalent experience. And a winning way with people.

If you think you would like this kind of a job—with plenty of responsibility—we would like to hear from you. Call or write for a personal interview.

Bainbridge Saddle Club

Mid-September brings the best season for horseback riding of the entire year so the Bainbridge Saddle Club grounds will be a popular spot for the next two months.

There have been small, short notice rides. Some at the Phil Jordan home to practice calf roping; others meeting at the Morris Williams farm. One of the latter was a 16 mile trip to the rodeo, west of Morton. Each weekend will find club members and their horses at the grounds. Sometimes this will be only a couple of families.

The Bainbridge Saddle Club was well represented in the Fair on the Square parade. Dressed in their most colorful riding togs, their mounts brushed and glowing, they were an attractive unit in the parade. Following disbandment there, some brought their horses and camping equipment out to spend the night. This was meeting date so several came to take part in the discussions and visit around the campfire.

The next day's horse show proved to be the biggest and best of this season. Jim Franklin of Spencer, very ably presided as judge. He had a good word, accompanied by a quick smile that made him popular with everyone. First place winners were:

Showmanship at halter, 8 yrs. and under, Jeff Williams.

Registered halter, Morris Williams.

Equitation, 8 yrs. and under, Sandra Davies.

Non-registered halter, Larry Ensor.

Western Pleasure, 9 to 15, Earlene Wood.

Reining, open, Don Jeffries.

Flag Race, 16 yrs. and over, John Clary.

Sack Race, 16 yrs. and over, Sandy Sibbet and Barry Grimes.

Spinning Pole Race, Barry Grimes.

The next show will be Sunday, Oct. 9, starting at 10:30.

Sunday, Sept. 18, will be work day at the club grounds.

Come on Saturday and camp out. Bring tools needed for fence stretching and repair and for finishing the arena fence.

Also food for a wiener roast.

No Change in Net Income

LAFAYETTE UPI — Purdue University agricultural economists took the wraps off their annual forecast of the Indiana farm economy for the coming year and said net income in 1966 will be about the same as during 1965.

Forecasts indicated cash receipts will be up about 5 per cent but higher production costs will offset the gain.

The predictions were made Monday night at the first of about 50 public outlook meetings, a traditional series at which experts from the state university appear at area sessions of local farmers in late September.

Most of the anticipated income increase will be in crops, beef cattle and dairy products, the forecast said. Some reduction in income will result from lower hog and poultry prices and smaller government program payments.

A continued reduction in number of farms in Indiana will aid in increasing the individual net income of those persons remaining in farming.

The economists expected continued economic growth in the general business sector, stimulated by the continued military buildup in Viet Nam, by higher employment, and by heavy consumer spending.

They warned, however, that any sharp curtailment in the war effort would "quickly place downward pressure on many prices forecast by the economists."

They said the credit policy will remain "restrictive, but will not prevent prices from rising."

Farm land values will rise 6 to 10 per cent in the next year to reach a record average high of $357 an acre for land and improvements. Production items will cost 5 to 10 per cent more than this year. Feed prices will average 10 to 15 per cent higher and seed prices 8 to 12 per cent higher. Farm machinery, motor vehicles, wages, interest rates and property taxes are expected to rise 5 to 10 per cent.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK UPI — Robert H. Stovall of E. F. Hutton & Co. believes that institutional selling, which had been arrested during recent advances, once again may affect the market. He feels that the recent rally may not be as strong as it appears and that profit-taking could increase as many stocks approach an overbought near-term position.

Spear and Staff Inc. says that to judge from recent sessions, a new bull market just may be beginning. He feels the shifting of attention from "performance" or glamor issues to the stronger valued blue chips lends strength to this theory.

Abraham & Co. suggests selling stocks on balance during rallies from what appears to be a short-term overbought condition but also advises purchasing equities with a good earnings potential during periodic declines.

Ike Wins

PEORIA, Ill. UPI — At the Minors Youth Farm auction an Aberdeen Angus steer bred on the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa., brought a top price of 47 cents a pound. Two steers from the LBJ Ranch in Texas, brought 35 cents and 31 cents.

TV In Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Maybe the best part of "ABC Stage 67" — a weekly television hour of original plays, musicals and documentaries that bowed in Wednesday night — was right before it began. As I sat down at the set, I had a sudden feeling of excitement. Imagine — they really got it on the air. Then the series title flashed on the screen, and I found myself just smiling. I wanted to see a television show.

From there on, it was all uphill. For that wild man of the typewriter, that East Coast Saroyan—Murray Schisgal, author of "Luv" — unleashed an exquisitely mad comedy called "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski," about a totally uninhibited and outrageous young man who races around the city he adores, New York, several hours before his wedding, trying to hustle up a couple of dollars for a honeymoon.

As it turns out, the girl he has in mind thinks, for some reason, that he is undependable simply because he doesn't have a steady job and at least a three-room apartment, and so he winds up marrying her sister. But nothing could have been less important to Schisgal's play than this seemingly simple thing called a plot line. For the author is an abstract artist who happens to use words instead of oils.

"The Love Song of Barney Kempinski" had a vision. The vision said: It may be a cliché, but life is crazy and wonderful. It said: contrary to current belief, joy is good. It said: Turn on the juice. It said: Don't sing me your sad songs, I've got enough hilarity of my own. It said: Purity is the best, and the wildest. It said: Wing it.

Barney Kempinski — played incomparably by Alan Arkin, who is currently enjoying success in the movie "The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming" — is a man possessed by love: He is Cyrano de Bergerac, circa 1966. The nose is lacking, but the gall is there, and the flair, and the complete insouciance. He could be at any point in history, in any place. There is always one of him. There better be.

So what does he do? Under the guidance of producer Marc Merson and director Stanley Prager, he is presented in the context of farce, sheer burlesque and even satire a takeoff on what could have been a Hollywood-style horse race was sly and perfect. The avant garde concept is adhered to throughout, and in his rounds of the city he meets an uproarious collection of characters in wildly-conceived vignettes. Both the verbal and the visual madness could be played in any language, and set in any big city. And maybe a small one too.

Barney had countless occupations in the short hour. He helped himself to all of them. For a while he drove a taxi — and his passenger was a mentally unstrung Wall Street financier (Sir John Gielgud) who happily gave him $20 along the route for pleasure, then asked for change when the fare ran to about $2. Barney also tried selling ice cream for a while; pretended he was a thief, giving himself up so he could use a telephone. He also tried street singing, and was a self-appointed tour guide, passing out 25-cent maps of Mexico while showing Greenwich Village. He hustled baggage on the docks, took over a meat truck and tried to get a quarter tip out of a praying United Nations delegate.

I don't think anything, however, was funnier than the sequence in which he carried a pig into the apartment of a wealthy, unhappy couple (Alan King and Lee Grant), pretending they had ordered it, and asking $25. He couldn't unload it there, but across the hall he ran into two little old ladies. Said one: "Emily, the pig is here." Said the other: "When do we get the rabbits?"

There has been television of the absurd before, but usually not purpose. Most of it is created in Hollywood, where "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski" never could have been created. The first hundred executives to pass approval never would have risked it, and the next 50 wouldn't understand it — or, I should say, be capable of understanding it any more. Do yourself a favor, and tune in "ABC Stage 67" in the future. It may not always be great, or even good, but it promises to be constantly different and experimental and honest. With "The Love Song of Barney Kempinski" alone, it justified its entire year.

LONDON UPI — South Africa's new "iron man," Premier Balthazar Johannes Vorster could make or break British Premier Harold Wilson's efforts to solve the problem of Rhodesia.

British officials in Whitehall frankly admit that Vorster now holds the key to the Rhodesian crisis and knows it.

They are worried that his anti-British feelings, backed by the groundswell of pro-Rhodesian support in South Africa, could catapult Vorster into granting outright South African recognition of the all-white Ian Smith government in Salisbury.

Vorster's predecessor, the assassinated Prime Minister Dr. Hendrik F. Verwoerd, refused to do this.

Instead he played the crisis straight down the middle.

On the one hand he would not prevent private organizations in South Africa from supporting the Smith regime by sending gifts of gasoline to Rhodesia. He also refused to take official action to plug the leaks in British sanctions against its rebellious colony.

On the other hand Verwoerd was instrumental in reopening talks between the British government and the Smith government. By making it plain to Smith the South African government would not grant outright recognition to his regime, Verwoerd forced Smith into secret "talks about talks" on Rhodesia with the British government.

Vorster is an untested newcomer to statesmanship — and British officials are openly distrustful of his past record.

His internment in 1942 for pro-Nazi activities and his subsequent anti-British statements did nothing to endear him to the British government and public; and his record as an authoritarian justice minister who introduced a series of repressive laws to safeguard apartheid did not improve his image.
